GOING AROUND

Sorrento is an old harbour and keeps its old style especially in the historical centre; if you don't dislike walking around, Sorrento is your town: you can easily and safely walk everywhere and absorb the traditional atmosphere. Remember if you love to visit the area there is a good train service (every 30 minutes you will have a train from and to Naples that pass across the best towns around); is a cheap way to travel and the distances are short.

SHOPPING

Going around for shopping certainly is one of the most amusing and curious activities. The variety of articles and shops is very wide; the centre of Sorrento shopping is undoubtedly via Cesareo, the beating heart of the town. It is possible to buy handicrafts such as inlaid works, artistic ceramics and scented wax, "rosolio" liqueur, jams and preserved vegetables, or silver jewels, corals and cameos, valuable embroideries on table-cloths. Moreover, on Tuesday, you can go shopping in the characteristic street market.

FOOD

Sorrento offers some of the best food and drinks of Italy; if you love typical drinks you can't miss the Limoncello, an alcoholic lemon juice here and famous all around the world. Oil and nuts are also famous and even more the wines, you can try the red local wine in every pizzeria or restaurant in Sorrento. As usually on the coast, the sea foods are great, especially with hand made pasta. For more special food go to Vico Equense and try the best ice cream ever at Gabriele or visit Castellammare di Stabia (famous for its ruins too and the night's life) for its typical biscuits or the Cold Cappuccino (Cappuccino Freddo) at the Bar 2000 nearby the station and open all night long.

MUSEUMS

Sorrento is not particularly famous for its museums but we feel you could find interesting two of them: the Museo Correale di Terranova (48, Correale street, Wed-Mon 9.30-13.30 entrance 6,00€) with its great old fashion decò style; and the Museo-Bottega della Tarsia Lignea (28, S.Nicola street, Mon-Sat 10.00/13.00-15.00/18,00 entrance 8,00€) with its famous wood products
